Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

Reference is made to the following document: 1.

D1: YAMADA M ET AL: "ACTIVE/NON-ACTIVE WORD CONTROL USING GARBAGE MODEL - UNKNOWN WORD RE-EVALUATION IN SPEECH CONVERSATION" ICSLP 94: INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON SPOKEN LANGUAGE PROCESSING (ICSLP), vol. 2, 18 September 1994 (1994-09-18), - 22 September 1994 (1994-09-22) pages 823-826, XP000855376 YOKOHAMA: ASJ, JP

The document D1 is regarded as being the closest prior art to the subject-matter of claim 1, and shows (abstract, section "2.2 Unknown word detection using garbage models") a speech recognition system in which garbage models are used to select different sets of active vocabulary.

The subject-matter of claim 1 differs from this known method in that keywords are directly recognized when associated with a given sequence of garbage models, without the need of a second recognition pass on another vocabulary set such as proposed in D1.

The subject-matter of claim 1 is therefore new (Article 33(2) PCT).

The problem to be solved by the present invention may be regarded as how to recognize keywords in noisy environments.

The solution to this problem proposed in claim 1 of the present application is considered as involving an inventive step (Article 33(3) PCT) because it is not directly derivable from the prior art.

Claims 2-16 are dependent on claim 1 and as such also meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to novelty and inventive step.
